Motion graphics | Fruzsina Huszar

I have used photoshop to draw the two hands but everything else is done in after effects.
The idea behind the video is that the string connects the two hands and the environment around them comes alive. Now looking back I could have made the before touch B&W and then colorful but next time I will apply this.

The vibe of the video which is very relaxing and almost magical to look at. As I was just adding things and exploring after effects I found more and more and my idea just developed.

I tried using the effects the teacher taught us the week and just explore those mainly because I haven't used after effects ever before. As for the hands I used my dad's hands as models and was inspired by Michelangelo for the positioning.
I really wanted challenge myself with the hands especially because of character design week.

I am happy with the turn out I think it really portrayed connection between people.
